

26 January 2004 – Website Launch

The Indian Consul General Mr Ganapathi launched Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan's website – www.bhavanaustralia.org - with the lighting of traditional lamps on 26th of January 2004.

Excerpts from Consul General Mr Ganapathi's speech

Thank you for asking me to launch the Bhavan website and for speaking on this occasion. On Bhavan, you cannot but say good words. It is the finest cultural organisation in India. It is the finest institution in India. There is no better institution than the Bhavan to spread the message of Indian philosophy, thought, education, religion and culture to the world.

It is an honour to have been involved from Day 1 in the setting up of this institution in Sydney. It's been a privilege to launch the website. I have had a look at the new website. Congratulations on doing such a marvelous job. It is well done. Congratulations to the Executive Committee and the hidden hands who have worked hard to make this happen. And congratulations to the Bhavan on launching another great activity. I wish the Bhavan many more wonderful activities. All the very best for the Bhavan's future.
